About

As President of Broadcom Software Group, my work is dedicated to accelerating innovation and moving businesses forward as a trusted software partner. Broadcom Software is building a comprehensive portfolio of industry-leading business-critical software that modernizes, optimizes, and protects the world's most complex hybrid IT environments. In overseeing Broadcom's six software divisions as well as software sales, customer support and software operations, I work with a team of more than 6,000 employees, manage $5 billion+ in revenue, and serve 80% of the Fortune 500 companies.

I previously served as Chief Financial Officer at Broadcom until December 2020, after joining the company as Vice President of Corporate Development in 2012. The core of my tenure at Broadcom has been devoted to elevating strategic and financial planning processes.

My career has been defined by this focus as a strategic leader. I've served as Vice President of Business Development at Techwell, which was acquired by Intersil in 2010. Additionally, as a financial consultant, I've represented various tech companies to improve their financial well-being. I have also held roles with Technology Crossover Ventures and Robertson Stephens. I received a B.A. in Economics from Princeton University.

The image is a promotional graphic for a partnership between Broadcom Software and Google Cloud. It features a dark background with server racks in the background. In the center, there are two logos: the Broadcom Software logo (a red circle with a white 'B') and the Google Cloud logo (a multi-colored cloud icon). Below the logos, the text "A Partnership to Modernize the Enterprise" is displayed in large, bold, white letters. At the bottom, there is a red button with the text "READ THE BLOG" in white.
